The most dangerous animals in the world.

What are the most dangerous animals in the world? Sharks? Snakes? Lions? These animals are very dangerous, it's true, but they are certainly not the most dangerous.

Hippos

In cartoons, hippos are usually slow happy and funny. But real hippos are mean and aggressive, and are certainly more dangerous than lions and tigers. Hippos are very heavy – some are about 3.000 kg. But they can run very fast and swim well, and they don't like people. Hippos kill more people in Africa than any other animal.

Box jellyfish

When people think of dangerous animals in the sea, they usually think of sharks. But sharks hardly ever kill people. The most dangerous sea animal isn't very big. It's a small jellyfish. The body is about 20 sm long. But it has got about 60 tentacles – and they are about three meters long. One of these tentacles can kill a human very quickly. Box jellyfish swim in the seas around Australia from October to April. When the jellyfish are there, nobody goes swimming.

Mosquitoes

The animal with the most dangerous bite isn't a snake or lion. It's an insect and you can find it all over the world. Mosquitoes give to malaria to over 300 million people very year, and about three million people die. Forty oer cent of the world's population are always in danger of malaria from mosquitoes. The mosquito is the world's most dangerous animal and it is also one of the smallest.
